

What Is To Be Done About the Catholic Church?

Interview with Commissioner Stephenson.

He Has Not "Taken Possession of the Building."

What He Don't Understand—He Magnanimously Leaves the Question for the Board of Emigration to Decide.

The statement of the Roman Catholic chaplain to the Emigrant Department of Ward's Island, published in yesterday's HERALD, caused a good deal of excitement and was the subject of much comment throughout the entire city, especially at the upper end of Manhattan Island, where what occurs in any of the institutions under the charge of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction, or the Commissioners of Emigration forms no small part of the daily gossip. The reverend gentleman's statement as to the proposed action of the new Commissioners of Emigration with regard to the Roman Catholic church recently erected on Ward's Island, and the erection of which was made the subject of especial comment in the recent report of the old Commissioners of Emigration to the Legislature, was very positive, and, coming from such a source, was naturally the subject of discussion among persons of all persuasions.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE STORY.

Every story has its own peculiar side, and as the HERALD yesterday published the statement of the chaplain and the senior resident surgeon of the Emigrant Department of Ward's Island, together with an official statement of the maximum number of Protestants who have attended divine service for a long period of years, a reporter called yesterday on Commissioner Stephenson, who was recently appointed a member of the Emigration board, and who was subsequently appointed chairman of the Ward's Island committee. He received the statement of the Reverend Father, published yesterday, in Commissioner Stephenson who first intimated to him on Sunday last that he was about to recommend to the Board of Commissioners a change with regard to the exclusive right of the Catholics.

On the island to hold divine service in the church which they claim as their own. Commissioner Stephenson is paying teller of the Fifth National Bank in this city, and is said to be one of the most active members of the new Board of Emigration Commissioners. He is a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and is said to be a member of the committee, he, of course, was the person most directly concerned in this connection.

The HERALD reporter called yesterday afternoon at Castle Garden, and on the conclusion of the private executive session of the Board met Commissioner Quintard, who visited Ward's Island on Sunday last, with Commissioner Stephenson, and who was supposed to be aware of the latter's intentions with regard to the church. The reporter remarked:—

"What is all this story with regard to the new church on Ward's Island, Mr. Quintard? What is it?"

Commissioner Quintard smiled and said:—"I don't know but there may be something in it. I read all about it in this morning in the HERALD. You had better go and see for yourself. I am the man who knows all about it. You had better go and see him. He is right in there (pointing to the Board room) and he will tell you everything." and Commissioner Quintard smiled smilingly away.

INTERVIEW WITH COMMISSIONER STEPHENSON.

The reporter subsequently called on Commissioner Stephenson, by whom he was courteously received. After he had introduced himself he asked Mr. Stephenson if he had any objection to the new church on Ward's Island. The Commissioner replied:—

"Yes, I did, and went through. I cannot understand how your report got out of this. I suppose they must have wanted a HERALD reporter to get the story and publish it. The report, sir, is one of the most absurd. It is untrue in every particular."

REPORTER.—It is very positively stated that you visited Ward's Island, Mr. Quintard.

COMMISSIONER.—Yes, sir, I did. I am chairman of the Ward's Island Committee.

REPORTER.—May I ask if it is true, Mr. Commissioner, that you and the Reverend Father, the chaplain, the Rev. Mr. Prakeny, I believe, in the new church?

COMMISSIONER.—Yes, sir, it is; but I cannot understand how this conversation which occurred between the Rev. Father and myself, and which was published in the HERALD, should have got out. I do not know the source this came from, but I am trying to find out, and I think I will. At all events I will do my best to get it straightened out. I have no power to do so, and the whole report is false.

REPORTER.—You had a conversation with the clergyman, I believe, Mr. Commissioner?

COMMISSIONER.—Yes, sir, I had.

THE CONVERSATION IN THE CHURCH.

REPORTER.—May I ask, Mr. Commissioner, if you found the clergyman, I said, "Can we not make some arrangement by which the Protestants on the island can hold divine service in this building as well as the Roman Catholics?" He said "No" in such a way that I saw well there was no in going and saying that. I do not know the source this came from, but I am trying to find out, and I think I will. At all events I will do my best to get it straightened out. I have no power to do so, and the whole report is false.

OBITUARY.

Lord William Paget, R. N.

From England we are informed of the occurrence of the death of the Right Honorable Lord William Paget, R. N., after an illness of some years' duration. His Lordship was the second son of the late Field Marshal the Marquis of Anglesey, K. G., G. C. B., and was born March 1, 1803. His mother was a daughter of the Earl of Jersey. He entered the navy April 1, 1817, as a first class volunteer, on board the Glasgow, and was employed at first in the Mediterranean and then on the home station, where, and in the West India, he served on various ships, until his commission as lieutenant, April 18, 1824. His next appointments were to the Tartar, and the Mediterranean, and on October 18, 1826, was advanced to post rank. His Lordship's succeeding commands were the Royal Charlotte, and the North Star. He was promoted to the rank of Captain in 1831, and the North Star, twenty-eight, in which vessel he returned to the West India station, in 1832, to 1833; to the Winchester, in 1833, to 1834; to the Glasgow, in 1834, to 1835; to the Glasgow, in 1835, to 1836; to the Glasgow, in 1836, to 1837; to the Glasgow, in 1837, to 1838; to the Glasgow, in 1838, to 1839; to the Glasgow, in 1839, to 1840; to the Glasgow, in 1840, to 1841;
